Description of how the grant will be used:

Each year, we order a class set of 30 Scholastic Scope magazines. The five language arts teachers share the class set and rotate through our classrooms as needed for lessons.

Rationale for the grant:

Scholastic Scope contains text and lessons designed to meet our ELA standards. The texts are complex and are accompanied by rigorous support materials to help build students language arts skills. We use the informational and narrative nonfiction pieces that are aligned to our Reading/Writing standards, as well as the short fiction, info-graphics, debates, speeches, and dramas based on myths, classic literature, and history that are all included in Scope.

The language arts curriculum does not have a textbook, so we (the teachers) design our lessons for every standard. Scope offers us the support with reliable text we so actively pursue for our planning of lessons.

Additional information: Each school year we use our entire share of the sixth grade language arts budget allotted to us in order to buy Scope for our students. If we receive the Grant money, the money in our language arts account would allow us to purchase books for our classrooms, which we all need for our individual classroom libraries.
